FEMA Still Here to Assist Alabama's Recovery from Hurricane Sally

The deadline for registering with FEMA has passed, but that does not mean FEMA is leaving. FEMA continues working with the Alabama Emergency Management Agency (AEMA) to help Alabama survivors and communities recover from the impacts caused by Hurricane Sally.

If you have registered for assistance, FEMA encourages you to keep in touch to track your case or to notify the agency of changes to your mailing or email addresses or phone numbers, and to report insurance settlements or additional damage you may have discovered since your home inspection.

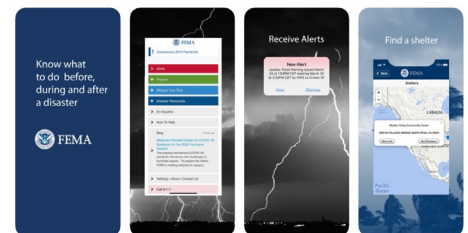

Here's how to reach FEMA:

- Online at www.disasterassistance.gov or www.disasterassistance.gov/es (for Spanish).
- Call the disaster assistance helpline at 800-621-3362 or (TTY 800-462-7585), 6 a.m. to midnight Central Time, seven days a week. Multilingual operators are available.
- Download the www.fema.gov/mobile-app.

The application deadline for a U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) low-interest disaster loan also has passed. For additional information about Alabama declaration for Hurricane Sally, call the SBA Disaster Assistance Customer Service Center at 800-659-2955 (TTY 800-877-8339), email disastercustomerservice@SBA.gov, or visit SBA's website at www.sba.gov/disaster and reference # 16674.
